OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, October 1, 1910.

Honorable Judson Harmon, Governor of the State of Ohio:

SIR:—I have the honor to transmit herewith the fortieth annual report of the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University.

The report, as usual, contains such statements and exhibits as are necessary to show the financial transactions of the past year, and the manner in detail of receiving and disbursing the various funds; also such other information as may be of general interest or required by law.

The Annual Report of the President of the University to the Board of Trustees is made a part of this report.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CARL E. STEEB,
Secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

---

OCTOBER 31, 1910.

HONORABLE F. E. POMERENE, President of Board of Trustees, The Ohio State University.

DEAR SIR: — I have the honor to present, through you, to the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University for transmission to the Governor of Ohio, as required by law, the fortieth annual report of the President of The Ohio State University for the year ending June 30, 1910.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

During the year there has been no change in the Board of Trustees except the reappointment of the Honorable Guy W. Mallon, whose term of service expired in May, 1910. His reappointment is a complimentary recognition of an unselfish and devoted service characterized by high idealism and loyalty to principle. His hearty co-operation with the other members of the Board, his intelligent grasp of educational principles together with his knowledge of practical affairs, make Mr. Mallon's appointment a source of satisfaction to all interested in the progress of the University.

THE FACULTY.

The most signal event in the history of the Faculty for the year is the retirement of William Henry Scott, LL. D., effective June 30th, 1910. Dr. Scott was President of the University and Professor of Philosophy from 1883 until 1895, when he retired from the presidency and continued as Professor of Philosophy until 1910. Twenty-seven years of continuous service in the University has made Dr. Scott an indelible part of the record of education in Ohio. His integrity of character, his devotion to his work, his abiding interest in all the questions of scholarship, and his co-operative spirit with the other institutions of the state, have made for him a record without parallel and one to which the University may call attention with pride and satisfaction as without blemish. He retired from his official duties with the confidence and esteem of his associates in the Faculty and the Board of Trustees and with the grateful affection of all his former students. It is a matter of satisfaction to know that he was placed upon the list for retiring allowances by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

The successor to Dr. Scott in the Department of Philosophy is Professor Joseph Alexander Leighton, Ph. D. Professor Leighton graduated from Trinity College, University of Toronto, in 1891; received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Cornell University in 1894, and the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Massachusetts, in 1896. He was for a time a student abroad in the Universities of Tubingen, Erlangen and Berlin, and spent some time as a student of philosophy in Harvard University. In 1897 he became Professor of Philosophy and Psychology at Hobart College, Geneva, New York, and continued in that position until his election at The Ohio State University. Professor Leighton has been a frequent contributor on philosophical topics and is the author of two books: "The Typical Modern Conceptions of God," published by Longmans, Green and Company, and "Jesus Christ and the Civilization of Today," published by the Macmillan Company. Professor Leighton's admirable equipment, his successful experience at Hobart College and his well known character, inspire the hope that he is entering upon a career of large usefulness in the University.

During the year the following persons were given leave of absence, namely: Professor Edward Orton, Jr., Dean of the College of Engineering and Professor of Ceramic Engineering; Professor Wilbur Henry Siebert, Professor of European History; Professor Josiah Renick Smith, Professor of Greek; Professor William Edwards Henderson, of the Department of Chemistry; and Associate Professor Berthold August Eisenlohr, of the Department of German.

Arrangements have already been completed for leave of absence for a number of the members of the Faculty for next year. This custom has grown up during the past few years in the University without any formal rules or regulations controlling it, but upon the approval of the trustees from year to year. The beneficial effects of this custom are already in clear evidence and it is hoped that the permanence of the custom is now assured and that the University can reasonably expect from its teaching force the stimulating effect of increased interest in scholarship and especially in the problems of education. For many years there has been a revival of interest in the universities concerning the question of scholarship. It is gratifying to see now that the problems of applied scholarship are being recognized and that one of the important functions of the state university is to make such use of scholarship as will produce a company of alumni who are the best justification for the maintenance of a university. The reaction of a body of alumni upon the scholarship of the University will be more appreciated as the age of the University and the numbers of the alumni combine to give the institution strength and definiteness of purpose.

The year has been characterized by a considerable number of changes in the teaching force. Happily, most of these changes were among the younger men and in the nature of promotions. These changes are to be expected from year to year and, in fact, ought to be encouraged. Before a man becomes a permanent factor in the life of a university he ought to have a little wider experience than is usually possible when he begins in a subordinate position and is promoted sometimes quite rapidly in academic rank. The custom of granting leave of absence relieves somewhat this tendency towards narrowness of view, but it is still an important contribution to a man's life to have had the advantage of experience in other institutions than the one in which his chief life work is accomplished.

It has been a matter of sincere gratification to the trustees that the salaries of a considerable number of the more experienced men have been slightly increased. This recognition of their scholarship and service was due years ago and the only regret in the case is that the recognition was so tardy. Along with this has been some increase for the younger men, and the hope is cherished that the increasing appreciation on the part of the state will ere long justify the belief that reasonably adequate salaries shall be paid to the men who are permanently identified with the life of the University.

Changes in title, rank and salary, as well as resignations, are recorded in the printed minutes of the trustees and therefore not repeated here.

THE ORGANIZATION OF THE UNIVERSITY.

During the year the University has revised the rules pertaining to organization with the purpose in view of developing the office and function of the deans and of making the body of deans an advisory cabinet with the president in order to provide for a more deliberate discussion of problems of internal administration. It is expected that the administrative and executive duties of the deans will be increased and more carefully defined. The purpose was not to introduce any revolutionary methods of procedure but to provide an organization that should carefully study the development of the University with a view to its increased efficiency. The organization of a state university with its great variety of instruction does not permit of a distinct and separate college organization for every type of instruction offered, since the department of instruction rather than the college is the educational unit. Of necessity many of the departments provide instruction for several of the colleges. To avoid mere duplication, and to adapt the instruction to the needs of the several types of education, the University policy must provide for a proper correlation of the departments. The body of deans would seem most naturally, therefore, the correlating agency. The aim of the administration will be, therefore, to bring before the deans from time to time a most careful study of the significance of all educational changes and the development of departments. It is hoped that through this free and untrammelled discussion to develop a consistent educational policy while adapting the work of the University to the needs of the state as discovered from time to time. It is hoped by such measures to avoid the extremes of administrative rigidity and departmental autonomy. The chief end of a state university is to organize the educational facilities provided so as to furnish adequate opportunity for the training and efficiency of young men and young women. The University is under obligation, therefore, to make a careful study of the educational systems and organizations in the colleges and public schools of the state and to co-operate with these agencies in such way as to be helpful and stimulate the cause of education however administered and wherever administered in the commonwealth. However important the work done upon the campus may be for students in attendance at the University, the larger outlook and the possible service to be rendered by the University to the cause of public education and to the efficiency of the state make it incumbent upon the University authorities to administer its resources in a broad and generous manner.

STATISTICS OF SERVICE.

Recent years have witnessed a development of interest in the services rendered by state universities. This has been particularly true as to the religious constituency served by the state and also of the variety of occupations engaged in by the parents of students. Perhaps no finer tribute can be paid to the University than is discoverable in the service rendered as revealed in a study of the occupations of the families from which the students come. Two tables are herewith appended which show the religious affiliations of the families and the occupations of the parents. The census card filled by the student shows whether or not he is a member of a particular church.

In cases where students or their families are not identified with any existing church, that fact is also noted. A glance at these statistics will reveal the fact that the students of the University come from every possible type of religion or business. It has been assumed always that the University was interested in the commercial and industrial development of the state and these statistics will at once justify the hope expressed by Senator Morrill in the statute providing for Land Grant Colleges in which these colleges were expected "To promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life." If any one doubts the widespread service of the modern state university, the mere reading of the tables submitted herewith will dispel the doubt. The religious statistics are gathered because of the widespread interest among the people in the matter of religious education. Already a movement has begun in several state universities to make provision for such needs. During the next year a student pastor will be provided at the Ohio State University (without expense to the University) for one of the larger denominations and possibly for two. The state is not without interest in this question and the duty would seem to be incumbent upon the State University to permit the best possible opportunity for the study and development of the religious ideals among students. The State of Ohio has been most generous in its attitude toward religion while standing unalterably for a separation of church and state. The rights of conscience are entirely consistent with the free exercise of religious liberty. There would be no disposition on the part of the State University to coerce a man's religious beliefs any more than to suppress them. The attitude of the University, therefore, upon all questions of religion is at once open, candid, and sympathetic while liberally tolerant of all differences of opinion or belief.

GIFTS.

The year has not been characterized by any large gifts to the permanent endowment or equipment of the University. It is proper, however, to call attention to the detailed list of these gifts as found by reference to the report of the Secretary of the Board of Trustees.

On July 20, 1909, Emeritus Professor Stillman Williams Robinson increased the Robinson Fellowship Fund in the amount of $1,850.00, so that the annual income from the fellowship will be $500.00. This increased provision is a renewed expression of Professor Robinson's interest in the University and will doubtless secure a type of service in the engineering fellowship that will abundantly justify his generosity.

Among other gifts may be mentioned the increase in the Siebert Fund, the National Brick Manufacturers Scholarship, and a gift from Honorable Julius F. Stone, of the Board of Trustees, and his companion,

Mr. Charles C. Sharp, an alumnus of this University. These gentlemen made the somewhat perilous journey down the Colorado River for scientific purposes and presented the University with two fine specimens of Rocky Mountain sheep, secured while on the journey.

A number of persons and firms have presented the University with machinery and apparatus, all of which is listed in the secretary's report. Reference to the secretary's report will also bring attention to the administration of the J. McLain Smith Fund and of the Robert P. Scott Fund.

The University gratefully recognizes the friendship embodied in these gifts and appreciates the addition to its equipment. The faithful administration of such gifts is the best assurance the University can make to future donors both of the wisdom of the gift and the gratitude of the University.

THE ENROLLMENT.

The total enrollment for the year ending June 30, 1910, as shown in the summary below, was 3,275. This is a net increase of 225 over the previous year. At the commencement in June, 1910, the University conferred 355 degrees; in addition to this there were 15 degrees granted during the academic year, making a total of 370 degrees. There were 31 certificates granted to students, as shown in the summary below, who had completed the courses as prescribed but who for lack of preliminary academic education could not qualify for a degree. The total number, therefore, of degrees and certificates granted for the year was 401. The enrollment as set forth below shows a decided increase in Agriculture, in Domestic Science, and in the College of Arts, Philosophy, and Science.

DEGREES

At the commencement held on June 22, 1910, the University granted a total of 370 degrees. These were distributed as follows:

College of Agriculture and Domestic Science.....	45
College of Arts, Philosophy, and Science.....	138
College of Education.....	17
College of Engineering.....	102
College of Law.....	22
College of Pharmacy .....	1
College of Veterinary Medicine.....	30

Total .....	355

In addition to the degrees granted, certificates for the completion of courses not leading to degrees were granted as follows:

College of Veterinary Medicine.....	17
College of Law.....	14
	<hr/>
Total .....	31
Degrees granted during the present academic year.....	15
Total number of degrees and certificates granted for the year ending June 22, 1910.....	401

SUMMER SCHOOL — 1909

The summer session for 1909 showed an enrollment of 642 students, distributed as follows:

Preparatory students .....	29
Undergraduates, totals only.....	(437)
Shopwork students .....	72
Shopwork students also taking some other work.....	40
Other undergraduates .....	325
Holders of college degrees.....	101
Artisans .....	25
Civil Engineers Field Party.....	14
Lake Laboratory, Sandusky .....	36
<hr/>
Total attendance .....	642

The summer session for 1910 showed an enrollment of 637 students, distributed as follows:

Preparatory students .....	10
Undergraduates, totals only.....	(465)
Shopwork students .....	55
Shopwork students also taking some other work.....	34
Other undergraduates .....	376
Holders of college degrees.....	130
Civil Engineers Field Party.....	11
Lake Laboratory, Sandusky.....	21
Total attendance .....	637

The summer session for 1910 shows a net decrease of five students. This decrease, however, is apparent rather than real so far as the actual work at the University is concerned. There was a considerable decrease in the students taking summer shop-work and some decrease in the field party of engineers, and a decrease of twenty-five artisans because that course was not offered in 1910. As a matter of fact, the body of students in attendance on the campus was larger than ever before and was characterized by the interesting fact that there was a considerable increase in the number of persons already holding college degrees. There was a decrease in the number of students doing what might be termed preparatory work, but an increase in the number of students doing work carrying college credit. The fact is evident, therefore, that the quality of students as determined by the advanced work is steadily improving. It is gratifying to know that a considerable number of teachers in the state who are already college graduates are willing to spend their time and money during the summer session in order to secure a more advanced education. Many of these eventually win a second degree and are to be commended as contributing to the professional standing of teachers in the state.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION

The first reference to the matter of Agricultural Extension appeared in the report for the year ending June 30, 1909. Since that time a year's experience has accumulated and the legislature has increased the appropriation from $20,000 to $50,000. Accordingly the plans are now developed for practically doubling the teaching force in order that a greater number of schools may be operated and that certain other extension work in the way of demonstration and correspondence may be undertaken which was not possible with the smaller force and the lack of experience in such enterprise. The enthusiasm with which this extension work has been received has quite exceeded the expectations of its most ardent promoters. The work must of necessity be elementary and largely, from year to year, a repetition because it rarely will go to the same community or command the same constituency in attendance. There is no doubt that this awakened interest among the people in their homes has aroused interest also in the schools. Already there is some evidence that this interest has increased the attendance in the College of Agriculture and there is reason to believe that the increased activity in Agricultural Extension will still farther develop students in agriculture. This will put upon the College of Agriculture and the College of Education the duty of preparing teachers and persons who can carry to the rural schools the spirit of enthusiasm in agricultural education.

In this connection attention may properly be called to the fact that the Winter Course students make a considerable demand upon the time of the regular instructional force in addition to the work necessary to carry the courses as outlined for the regular four-year students. The Home Makers' course for women was introduced for one year, but was abandoned for lack of space for the regular students. Both of these phases of work are in the nature of agricultural extension. If the University shall be expected in the future to carry these several phases of instruction in addition to the regularly outlined courses of study, it is very evident that some facility should be provided for taking care of these students. It is really a form of agricultural extension carried at the University. The statutes provide that the extension work shall be elsewhere than at the University. The desire of students, however, and of young farmers and of housekeepers has practically formulated a demand for this kind of work at the University. The willingness to respond is present, but attention should be called to the fact that the demand for this type of education is out of proportion to the facilities for meeting it.

THE APPROPRIATIONS

The legislature at its last session made the following special appropriations:

Equipment engineering laboratory building.....	$15,000
Equipment power house .....	25,400
Extension work in agriculture and mechanic arts.....	50,000
Repairs and betterments of buildings and grounds.....	30,000
Scientific apparatus, laboratory equipment.....	8,000
Uses and purposes of library.....	25,000
Live stock and maintenance.....	10,000
Veterinary clinic building equipment.....	12,500
Fire escapes and remodeling University Hall.....	25,000
Bonds due December 1st, 1910.....	25,000
Interest on $80,000 of bonds due December 1, 1910.....	3,600
For construction library to cost $250,000.....	125,000
	$354,500

A comparison of the above statement with those found on page 21 of the last annual report will show that the state is making steady progress in the matter of providing for the University. The needs of a large institution are always pressing and important. It is practically impossible during the session of the legislature to list accurately all the needs or to secure attention to those that in the judgment of the trustees seem most imperative. The preferences in the legislature are sometimes very decided and must, of course, be respected. The state's right to direct the expenditure of money is absolute, but the judgment of the trustees nevertheless should be given serious consideration as a matter of economy and proper development. The uncertain state of the revenue system will probably preclude any farsighted provision and the University, therefore, must content itself with such temporary provision as the legislature may be able to make. Attention, however, should be called to the fact that a reasonable fund of money for construction and developing purposes at the command of the trustees would result in economy of expenditure and a more satisfactory development of the University than is at all possible by the method of occasional appropriations. Among the most important appropriations made by the last legislature was that for a Library Building. At the time this appropriation was made it was understood that a second appropriation of an equal amount would be made for the completion of the building. It will be necessary for the legislature at the coming session to make an appropriation also for the equipment of the building. This item will be duly listed in the requests presented by the trustees. The fact that this Library Building, the most expensive yet constructed, is in process of construction should not in any way interfere with the consideration of other needs of the University in the matter of buildings. Attention is called (by reference) to the report of last year as found on pages 22 and 28 inclusive. The needs that then existed are even more emphasized today and they are urgently presented in this report in the hope that adequate provision will be made for the development of the work now in hand.

THE EXPEDITION TO HAWAII

Through the generosity of Mr. Emerson McMillin of New York City, Professor Henry Curwen Lord and Associate Professor Edwin F. Coddington were sent to Honolulu in the hope of observing the transit of Halley's Comet, May 18th, 1910. This expedition was carefully planned and every effort made to reach results of scientific importance. In the matter of equipment Mr. Campbell Chittenden, of Columbus, loaned a microscope, and the John A. Brashear Company, of Pittsburg, a spectroscope. The obligations and appreciation of the University are acknowledged to these gentlemen for their generous co-operation. Unfortunately, however, at the time the weather somewhat interfered so that the main issue was defeated. Professor Lord and Professor Coddington have both submitted complete and elaborate reports of the expedition and filed the same with the Board of Trustees. The University expresses its appreciation of the generosity of Mr. McMillin in providing this expedition and extends the most cordial thanks for the aid he gave.

CONCLUSION.

In concluding this report it is a matter of satisfaction to testify to the co-operative spirit manifested in the Faculty, among administrative officers, and to express an appreciation of the efficiency manifested. The lack of friction between students and Faculty, or between trustees and Faculty, enables the energy of the University to be applied in the useful work of extending the benefits of education. The pleasure of service in such an environment will not reduce itself to an exact statement in a formal report.

The reports of the Deans of the College of Agriculture and of the College of Education, together with the statistical tables and other reports as required by law, are submitted herewith as a part of this report.

Respectfully submitted,

W. O. THOMPSON,
President.

The above are provided for out of the regular funds of the University and from special appropriations made by the legislature.

The special appropriations made by the 78th General Assembly, for expansion, are listed in the report of the president, and are being spent for the definite purposes for which they were made.

PROGRESS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

The changes in the faculty, enrollment of students, degrees conferred, and the courses of instruction offered, as well as the general progress of the university during the past year, are given in the report of the president of the university, and in the appendices.

Respectfully submitted,

CARL E. STEEB, Secretary.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Oct. 1, 1910.

DR. W. O. THOMPSON, President, Ohio State University.

DEAR SIR:—As Dean of the College of Agriculture I have the honor of submitting the following report for the year ending June 30, 1910.

ENROLLMENT.

The most marked increase in the enrollment during the past years has been in the degree courses as shown by the statistics given below. The decrease in the winter courses was due to the abolishing of the Home Makers Course which could not be held on account of lack of room and to a decrease in the enrollment in the winter course in agriculture due to the holding of Agricultural Extension Schools throughout the state.

CHANGES IN THE FACULTY

At the beginning of the year Professor Wendell Paddock, who had filled the position of professor of horticulture in the Colorado Agricultural College for several years, began his work in our college as head of the department of horticulture.

In January Professor V. M. Shoesmith, who had occupied the position of associate professor in agronomy for two years, resigned to accept the position of head of the department of farm crops in the Michigan Agricultural College. Professor Shoesmith is a graduate of the Michigan Agricultural College and came to us from the Maryland Agricultural College. The call by his Alma Mater was a distinct promotion to him and a well deserved appreciation of the record he had made.

The faculty of the college was also materially increased by the addition of a force of instructors on the Agricultural Extension Fund for which a special appropriation was made by the legislature. After thorough consideration it was decided that more effective work could be done by having the persons engaged in this work appointed in the respective departments and made responsible to the heads of these departments, rather than having a separate force of extension workers. The following appointments were made in accordance with this policy.

Ernest D. Waid was appointed assistant professor in Agronomy.

Richmond L. Shields was transferred from the Agricultural Extension office to the department of Animal Husbandry.

Firman E. Bear was appointed assistant in agriculture chemistry.

C. R. Titlow was appointed assistant in agricultural extension.

In addition to these, several persons were hired by the week to assist in the extension schools and several minor changes were made in the teaching force of the college during the year.

ORGANIZATION OF THE COLLEGE

With the growth of the college new departments have been created. What was formerly the department of agriculture was divided five years ago into the departments of agronomy, animal husbandry, dairying and rural economics. More recently the department of horticulture and forestry was divided into departments of horticulture and of forestry. In the future it will doubtless be found desirable to still further divide some of the existing departments. With this new organization came problems in regard to the relationship of the departments to the farm and livestock. To meet this situation the Produce Fund was created and a system of credits and debits was established between departments. After following this plan for five years it has been abandoned; the Produce Fund and all credits and debits between departments abolished and more authority centralized in the Dean of the college. The new plan will be followed this year and it is believed will be found to be a decided improvement.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION

The most important development in the work of the college during the year has been in agricultural extension for which the General Assembly made a special appropriation of $20,000. A. B. Graham, who had served for several years as superintendent of agricultural extension, was put in active charge of the work and a committee consisting of the President of the University, a member of the Board of Trustees, the Dean of the College of Agriculture, and the Superintendent of Agricultural Extension was created to have the supervision of the work. The following from Superintendent Graham's report is a brief review of the work of the year.

"Without doubt, the most important part of the work has been the conducting of agricultural extension schools, which were in session for five days a week. In each of these schools ten lectures were given on soil fertility and ten on farm crops. The third subject, animal husbandry, horticulture, or dairying was hastily covered in ten lectures. Simple experiments, demonstrations, and charts have helped to make the instruction clear. Thirty-four of the thirty-six agricultural extension schools granted were held practically as scheduled. Though we expected in the beginning but six or eight calls for the Home Makers' Course (Domestic Science); we find that we have held thirty such schools in connection with the agricultural schools. Our records show a membership of a few more than 5,000 persons.

Agricultural trains have been run over five different railroads. Sixty-five stops have been made and seven evening meetings held. There have been in attendance over 14,000 people. One of these trains was known as an horticultural, dairying and poultry train; three others as horticultural and dairying trains; and the last one as a dairy train.

Seventeen demonstrations in the spraying of fruit trees were made during the past spring. Most of these requests came from persons who had visited the horticultural special trains. Where it was possible, three different visits have been made to each place by our demonstrators and a talk of one hour on fruit tree pests and orcharding has preceded the actual spraying. We have had more calls for this work than we could find time for or men to take care of.

Three demonstrations in the home mixing of fertilizers have been conducted. This work was not taken up until late last summer, therefore only a few demonstrations were made.

Exhibits were made at eight county fairs last fall and at the State Fair. This work covered nine weeks. The exhibits were composed of such simple apparatus, drawings, photographs, etc., as would be helpful in explaining some phase of agriculture not beyond the understanding of the children in the upper grades or the high school.

Ten issues of from 15,000 to 20,000 copies each, of the Agricultural Extension Bulletin have been published, and in addition to these, six supplements of 10,000 copies each. The mailing list for this bulletin is made up of public school teachers in the rural and village districts and children in the upper elementary grades and in the high schools. Five thousand names of school board members have been recently added to the list."

FORESTRY

The growing importance of the subject of forestry has been recognized by the college. A department of forestry has been created with Professor W. R. Lazenby at the head of the department, and a four-year course of study established leading to the degree of bachelor of science in forestry. This being the first year that the department has been in existence the following account of its progress taken from Professor Lazenby's report, is given:

"The number of students registered in the new department was twenty-eight; of this number, thirteen entered the course as freshmen, while the remainder were divided among the upper classes as follows: Sophomores, eleven; juniors, four. Of the six seniors who completed the old course in horticulture and forestry, three specialized in forestry.

In general the progress of the students in the department during the year has been satisfactory and the diligence and enthusiasm exercised by nearly all have made the work of instruction a pleasant task.

The method of instruction has been by lectures and laboratories, supplemented by such out-door practical work as it was possible to give. The aim is to train, as well as to teach, to show methods, as well as to impart knowledge. Text books are used mainly for reference, and a good portion of time is spent in the direct study of trees and their management. Experience has shown that this method develops the faculty of observation, trains the descriptive powers and incites the student to investigate things for himself. There has been much discussion of late regarding the arrangement of subjects in a technical Course. From a pedagogic point of view the preliminary or fundamental studies should precede, that is, the sciences and general art subjects upon which the successful practice of a profession is based, should come first, while the application and technique should follow.

There is, however, a tendency to introduce more of the practical subjects early in the Course, the object being to interest and satisfy the student. The average student who enters a Course like "Forestry" or "Ceramics" is naturally impatient to begin the more practical or technical work of the Course. He does not always realize the importance of a good foundation. He does not fully understand how chemistry, physics, botany, the higher mathematics, a better knowledge of English and some one or more of the modern languages, to say nothing of entomology, bacteriology, meteorology, etc., are of vital importance. And yet unless one is thoroughly grounded in the principles of these and other subjects, he is not prepared to attain real proficiency in his profession. The truth is, these subjects constitute not only the foundation, but the frame work, the very body and bones of a sound and thorough technical education.

In view of the facts just stated, the first two years of the Course in Forestry are devoted almost wholly to preliminary or preparatory studies. Just enough of Forestry proper is given to keep the student interested and to start him on the way of becoming well acquainted with trees.

Owing to the crowded condition of the rooms in the Horticultural building, little progress has been made during the year in the way of collecting and preparing illustrative material.

The means of illustration in this Department naturally divide into two distinct groups.

(1) Such as are suitable for class room and laboratory examination and study.

(2) Such as are useful for out-door observation and practice. For the class room we require large, carefully selected, and well preserved forest herbaria including fruits, seeds and other products of the forest. We need also a greatly enlarged collection of woods and wood products.

The means of out-door illustration should be greatly extended by the establishment of a good forest nursery and arboretum. For this purpose a few acres just west of the University woodlot should be set aside.

For seed beds and seedlings a half acre of land near the Horticultural building is also required.

UNIVERSITY WOODS

The University Woods adjoining the Campus is of interest to so many Departments and to the University for so many reasons that some specific information in regard to it is given from Professor Lazenby's report so that it may be on file.

"It is a small area that may justly be termed a primitive or virgin forest. Trees have been cut out from time to time, but it has never been cut off or cleared either by axe or fire since the first settlement of Ohio, and perhaps not since the first settlement of America.

Of trees that have grown up naturally, there are at present about 30 distinct species represented. The most numerous are white elm, beech, white ash, basswood, Ohio buckeye, black maple, chestnut, oak, sycamore, red elm, black cherry, black walnut, honey locust and hackberry. In lesser numbers are found water beech, silver maple, thorn apple, bur oak, red mulberry, ironwood, butternut, shag bark, and shell bark hickory, blue ash, box elder, red bud, and quite a number of others. Of trees that are two inches in diameter, measured breast high, there are 630. As the area contains something less than nine acres excluding walks this is an average of 70 trees per acre.

Among the more evident lessons that may be drawn from this woodlot are these:

(1) The adaptability of forest trees to particular soil conditions.

(2) The fact that a good timber tree grows just as thrifty and surely as a poor one.

Many of the most vigorous growing species, like the white ash, hickory, bur oak, black cherry and black walnut, are by far the most valuable. From an economical point of view it is certainly wasteful to let beech, buckeye, honey locust, thorn apple, etc., start up and grow in the soil that will raise equally well ash, hickory, cherry and walnut.

I know no farm so large that its owner can afford to raise inferior cord wood, and I believe there are few farms so small that some portion of each cannot be profitably devoted to the growing of choice timber trees."

THE UNIVERSITY HERD

Several special appropriations have been made by the Legislature for the purchase of live stock and as a result the condition of the herd has been very greatly improved as shown by the following report of Professor C. S. Plumb.

"The University Herd is in the best condition in the history of the Department. At present we have about 25 horses, 75 cattle, 100 hogs and 50 sheep of all ages. In this collection are numerous animals of much individual merit. In the fall of 1909, through McLaughlin Bros. of Columbus, we imported four yearling Percheron fillies from France. We have also purchased some choice specimens of Jersey and Short-horn cattle, and received in October the Kerry cattle previously referred to. Several steers of different ages, important for class work, were purchased. A number of very choice Southdown and Shropshire wether lambs were purchased in Canada in December. These have furnished very valuable class room material. At the Ohio State Fair in September, the University purchased the first prize class B. Merino ram lamb, exhibited by Blamer & Son; an animal of very superior merit, winner of first place in numerous shows in 1909. We have now in the University herd specimen of pure-bred Percheron, Cyldesdale, Hackney and trotting horses; Jersey, Holstein-Friesian, Guernsey, Ayrshire, Kerry, Devon, Red Polled, Shorthorn, Aberdeen Angus and Hereford cattle; Southdown, Shropshire, Cotswold and Merino Sheep; and Berkshire, Duroc-Jersey, Large York-shire, Lincolnshire Curly Coated, and Cross-bred swine. The health of the herd during the year has been in a general way very satisfactory. We have suffered from distemper among the horses, due to purchasing work horses from dealers, thus introducing the trouble. Our cattle have been unusually healthy, and at the last tuberculin test of the herd, every animal passed the test, indicating the herd to be perfectly free from tuberculosis. We have lost a number of young pigs from shoat pneumonia, and have to make constant fight to keep stomach worms from the sheep."

SCHOLARSHIPS

Mr. J. Ogden Armour offers twenty scholarships each year of two hundred fifty ($250.00) each to be distributed to Agricultural College students through the International Live Stock Exposition. Last year the Stock Judging team from our College won one scholarship for their work in judging sheep and one scholarship was won for the College by the live stock breeders of Ohio on the showing made by them.

These two scholarships were awarded to Mr. Abraham Williams and Mr. W. N. Smith, students of the College.

THE OUTLOOK

The year just closed has been marked by harmonious co-operation of all Departments in the College. The active part taken in the Extension work by the teaching force of the College has interfered to some extent with the class room work but this condition has been regarded by all concerned as temporary and students and instructors have accepted the situation in a good spirit.

The awakened interest in Agriculture due largely to the increased cost of food products has turned the attention of all classes to the farm as a source of livelihood. Information is sought on every hand by the educated and uneducated in regard to the fundamental principles of Agriculture. Young men of all classes are looking toward Agriculture as their life's work. The best evidence of this is the fact that more new students enrolled in the College of Agriculture this present year than have ever before enrolled in any College of the University. This rapid growth of the College brings with it the need of rapidly increasing our equipment and teaching force. The needs of the College as they now appear to the different Departments of the College will be presented in the near future with the request that consideration of the same be given in making up the requests from the next Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

H. C. PRICE,
Dean.

COLUMBUS, July 28th, 1910.

DEAN H. C. PRICE,

MY DEAR PROFESSOR PRICE:—In compliance with your request for a report covering the work done during the past year by the Department of Agricultural Extension, I beg to submit the following brief statement:—

This Department has endeavored to conduct such work as will most immediately meet the needs of Ohio Agriculture.

Without doubt, the most important part of the work has been the conducting of Agricultural Extension Schools, which were in session for five days a week. In each of these schools ten lectures were given on Soil Fertility and ten on Farm Crops. The third subject, Animal Husbandry, Horticulture, or Dairying was hastily covered in ten lectures. Simple experiments, demonstrations, and charts have helped to make the instruction clear. Thirty-four of thirty-six Agricultural Extension Schools granted were held practically as scheduled. Though we expected in the beginning but six or eight calls for the Home Makers' Course (Domestic Science), we find that we have held thirty such schools in connection with the Agricultural Schools. Our records show a membership of a few more than 5,000 persons. During the coming year, Agricultural Extension Schools will be held in at least seventy-six counties in the state. Counties in which no schools were held last year will have practically the same courses of instruction as have been previously given in all Extension Schools. In counties where such a school is being held for the second time, the courses will be changed to give new subjects for discussion and advanced work on subjects taken up last year. We have received applications for these schools from ninety-five places in the state.

Agricultural trains have been run over five different railroads. Sixty-five stops have been made and seven evening meetings held. There have been in attendance over 14,000 people. One of these trains was known as a Horticultural, Dairying, and Poultry Train; three others as Horticultural and Dairying Trains; and the last one as a Dairy Train. During the coming month special trains will be run over three different railroads and instruction will be given on the improvement of the wheat crop in Ohio. Stops of from one to three hours are made on such trips.

Seventeen demonstrations in the spraying of fruit trees were made during the past spring. Most of these requests came from persons who had visited the Horticultural Special Trains. Where it was possible, three different visits have been made to each place by our demonstrators and a talk of one hour on fruit tree pests or orcharding has preceded the actual spraying. We have had more calls for this work than we could find time for or men to take care of.

Three demonstrations in the home mixing of fertilizers have been conducted. This work was not taken up until late last summer, therefore only a few demonstrations were made.

Exhibits were made at eight county fairs last fall and at the State Fair. This work covered nine weeks. The exhibits were composed of such simple apparatus, drawings, photographs, etc., as would be helpful in explaining some phase of agriculture not beyond the understanding of the children in the upper grades or the high school. We have arranged to make exhibits at nine county fairs the coming season. We will have much more and better equipment and demonstration material for our work this year.

Ten issues of from 15,000 to 20,000 copies each, of the Agricultural Extension Bulletin have been published, and in addition to these, six supplements of 10,000 copies each. The mailing list for this bulletin is made up of public school teachers in the rural and village districts and children in the upper elementary grades and in the high schools. Five thousand names of school board members have been recently added to this list. During the coming school year, three bulletins will be issued by this Department each month;—Farmers' Reading Course Bulletin, Home Makers' Bulletin, and The Agricultural College Extension Bulletin.

We have held two Saturday meetings for teachers who are teaching agriculture in the public schools. We hope to see this feature of the work extended a little farther next year. A man has been added to the department force who will give his entire time to the promotion of agricultural work in the public schools.

About one hundred and twenty-five addresses have been made at Farmers' Institutes, Teachers' Institutes, Grange Meetings, Corn Improvement Associations, etc.

Two new features of the work for the new year will be Field Meetings for the discussion of crop tests and the organization of Cow Testing Associations in various places in the state.

The conducting of these different forms of Extension work has increased the correspondence at both the College of Agriculture and the State Experiment Station.

From July 1st, 1909, to June 30th, 1910, we have had on our regular pay roll eight instructors and one stenographer. Five instructors have been employed by the week for such time as they were needed; a few others have been employed by the day or by the week to assist us in the spraying demonstrations or in our work on Agricultural trains. Those not on the regular force of instructors have rendered service from a few days to twenty-two weeks.

During 1910-1911 there will be on our regular pay-roll twenty-four instructors, two stenographers full time, and one stenographer half time. Instructors will be assigned to the departments as follows:—

Farm crops .....	4
Soils .....	4
Animal Husbandry .....	2
Horticultural .....	2
Dairy .....	2
Dom. Science .....	6
Agricultural Extension, Executive Office.....	4

There will be at least five instructors employed by the day or week.

The efforts put forth by this department to encourage the teaching of agriculture in the elementary and high schools should be rewarded in a change of attitude by the young people toward agricultural industries and such an elementary knowledge that the future farmer and housewife may be able to appreciate more the instruction of the college found in bulletin publications or from the lecture platform. The appreciation by the people of what is being done at present through the various forms of Extension work has already been shown by the liberal appropriation made by the last General Assembly for conducting and developing the work.

Yours very truly,

A. B. GRAHAM,
Supt. Agr'l. Extension.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 21, 1910.

DR. W. O. THOMPSON, President of Ohio State University.

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT:— In submitting this first report of the College of Education after three years of its existence, it seems fitting to review briefly its organization as well as its accomplishments.

The committee of the University faculty appointed to investigate and report on a college for teachers unanimously made four distinct recommendations, viz.,

1. That a college of education be established.
2. That it be established whenever the financial condition of the university will warrant it without detriment to the existing departments.
3. That the requirements for admission be not less than fifteen units of secondary school work with suitable provision for special studies.
4. That a degree be conferred upon the satisfactory completion of four years of work of university grade.

The report was adopted by the faculty and sent to the Board of Trustees.

Almost immediately the trustees of the University authorized the organization of a college of education. That seemed to dispose of the first recommendation.

In regard to the second recommendation, there has never appeared any disposition to appropriate to the college of education funds needed elsewhere about the University. The organization of the college did necessitate the formation of some new departments. But it was evident that the University would need the work which these new departments proposed to do whether the college of education were organized or not. However, it seems evident that the time can not be far distant when the college of education must expect definite, certain and liberal financial support. This support is needed for a new building, for the better organization of the teacher training work, for some slight recompense to the Columbus city teachers who have given and are giving a helpful service to the department of principles and practice of teaching, for the organization of new departments and for a school museum and a professional reading room.

The third recommendation regarding the requirements for admission contemplated the organization of work for freshmen within the college of education. But, in the beginning, there was such evident agreement regarding the necessity for thorough scholarship in the content of the subject which the student might be preparing to teach that it seemed wise to use the first two years of the arts college curriculum as a basis for professional work in the college of education. There was also a feeling that a division of the work between the two colleges would encourage other arts colleges of the state to send their students to the college of education of the State University for the professional opportunities. It has been some disappointment that the other colleges of the state have not adopted a policy of co-operation with this plan. Just now there appear some rather urgent reasons for the adoption of the plan first contemplated, viz., the organization of the entire four years of work within the college of education. Students who once enter the college of arts seem to become so attached to it and their work is so framed under the direction of its advisers that they do not like to break the established order even for the professional advantages to be gained within the college of education. So it has happened that several students who have entered the college of arts with the intention of finishing in the college of education have abandoned their original scheme of work. Again some recent legislation known as the Hawkins law undertakes to provide an easy method of licensing the professionally trained teacher. The state commissioner of common schools, in interpreting this law, has announced that the standards set by the college of education shall be standards recognized for all colleges which seek the benefits of this law for their students; but he recommends that all work for professionally trained teachers in the Ohio State University be placed under the charge of the college of education. Inasmuch as the college has made already provision for four year courses in certain special studies, it would seem to be an easy matter to arrange all its courses for the full four years work.

At the time of the organization of the college, short courses of two years length leading to a certificate were offered. No certificate has ever been granted and the courses have been withdrawn.

In regard to the fourth recommendation that a degree be granted on the completion of four years of work, it was agreed to award the "bachelor of science in education" to all graduates regardless of the kind of work done. As the college of arts grants an A. B. degree to its graduates regardless of the kind of work done, it is readily seen that a student in this university may elect within the college of arts science work largely for which he will receive the A. B. degree, while another student may elect within the college of education classical work largely for which he will receive the B. S. degree. This does not seem to be a correct theory regarding degrees. The college of education should give more distinctive recognition for work done. A student electing his major in science or mathematics should receive the degree of "bachelor of science in education." A student electing his major in a foreign language, in history or in English should receive the degree of "bachelor of arts in education." A student electing a special major, e. g., art, manual training, domestic science or music should receive a bachelor of science in the special subject.

Under the present arrangement, twenty-six bachelor's degrees have been granted. There have been granted also seven "master of arts" degrees.

A wise co-operation between the public schools of this community and the college of education is very desirable and would be most beneficial to both. If an arrangement could be made whereby the teachers of Columbus could be offered registration in the college of education free of charge in return for the opportunities offered the university students for practice work in the public schools, and, if then the Board of Education of the city of Columbus would offer to its teachers a certain definite increase in salary for every twelve hours of university credit obtained through the college of education, the scope of usefulness of the college would be widened and surely the schools would be benefited by the improved scholarship and professional ideals of the teachers. Twelve hours are suggested as a unit, as it is thought it might be possible for teachers to acquire that amount of credit within a year. It would take ten years to acquire a degree and to advance from the minimum to the maximum salary.

The comments of college teachers of education in different parts of our country make it apparent that the Ohio State University holds a strategic location and opportunity for the development of a strong professional school for teachers. It seems to be well understood that the University has made a clear and happy distinction between the teachers college and the normal school.

In submitting this report, permit me to express my appreciation of the hearty support you have given this enterprise in the interest of teaching. We have not yet won the complete support of all members of the University faculty; but it is pleasing to note that criticisms have been made only on the doubtfulness of the project and never upon individuals or their enthusiasm.

Respectfully submitted,

W. W. BOYD.

Dean of College of Education.

Name of Employee.	Position.	Salary.
Wm. Oxley Thompson....	President .....	$7,000 00
Alfred Vivian .....	Professor of Agricultural Chemistry....	2,750 00
Henry A. Weber.....	Professor of Agricultural Chemistry....	2,250 00
John F. Lyman.....	Associate Professor of Agricultural Chemistry .....	1,500 00
B. M. Hendrix.....	Assistant in Agricultural Chemistry....	600 00
G. E. Boltz.....	Student Assistant in Agricultural Chem- istry .....	300 00
E. W. Bennage.....	Fellow in Agricultural Chemistry (part time) .....	230 00
Arthur G. McCall.....	Professor of Agronomy.....	2,000 00
V. M. Shoesmith.....	Associate Professor of Agronomy (part time) .....	1,045 00
H. C. Ramsower.....	Assistant Professor of Agronomy.....	1,300 00
W. Casper Lassetter.....	Assistant in Agronomy (part time)....	420 00
George W. Knight.....	Professor of American History.....	2,750 00
Homer C. Hockett.....	Associate Professor of American His- tory .....	1,600 00
A. M. Bleile.....	Professor of Anatomy and Physiology..	2,500 00
R. J. Seymour.....	Associate Professor of Anatomy and Physiology .....	1,500 00
E. P. Durrant.....	Assistant Professor of Anatomy and Physiology .....	1,200 00
Adolph Feiel .....	Assistant in Anatomy and Physiology..	400 00
A. B. Landrum.....	Assistant in Anatomy and Physiology..	250 00
L. C. Gatewood.....	Assistant in Anatomy and Physiology..	250 00
Gatewood .....	Assistant in Anatomy and Physiology..	250 00
Charles S. Plumb.....	Professor of Animal Husbandry.....	2,500 00
F. R. Marshall.....	Professor of Animal Husbandry.....	2,100 00
Henry W. Vaughan.....	Assistant in Animal Husbandry.....	1,200 00
D. M. Fyffe.....	Superintendent of Live Stock.....	1,200 00
W. H. Palmer.....	Assistant in Animal Husbandry (Win- ter Course) .....	300 00
W. C. Mills.....	Curator—Archaeology .....	600 00
Absalom Brown .....	Assistant in Archaeology .....	120 00
Joseph N. Bradford.....	Professor of Architecture.....	2,500 00
C. St. J. Chubb.....	Associate Professor of Architecture....	1,300 00
F. H. Haskett.....	Instructor in Architecture.....	1,200 00
Mary R. Laver.....	Associate Professor of Art.....	1,700 00
Julia Titsworth .....	Assistant Professor of Art.....	1,300 00
Martha Dean .....	Instructor in Art (part time).....	400 00
Margaret Finney .....	Instructor in Art (part time).....	600 00
Henry C. Lord.....	Professor of Astronomy.....	2,750 00
E. S. Manson.....	Associate Professor of Astronomy.....	1,300 00
Charles B. Morrey.....	Professor of Bacteriology.....	2,300 00
E. F. McCampbell.....	Associate Professor of Bacteriology....	1,700 00

STATEMENT NO. 3—Continued.

Name of Employee.	Position.	Salary.
John G. George.....	Student Assistant in Bacteriology.....	200 00
G. A. Rowland.....	Laboratory Assistant in Bacteriology (part time) .....	100 00
